THE AUDITORIUM.

Despite the hot wave that hit the city last week, the interior of the Auditorium was as cool as the proverbial cucumber. This theater is ventilated in a scientific manner, the air being constantly changed and kept in circulation, but no direct draughts are felt. Another feature is the deodorizing of the air and perfuming it at the same time, this being the only house in the city that has this method installed.

Today brings four thousand feet of feature. Independent film, including such makes as the "Im. Film d'Art, Thanhouse and others. The pictures handled by the Auditorium are refreshing in their originality, and so many different makes being handled, there is always a great variety of subjects. An entire new set of pictures will be shown on Wednesday and another new set on Thursday.
Mr. Warren Smith will sing for the first three days the answer to the now famous "I Wish I Had a Girl" song, entitled "I Wish I Had My Old Girl Back Again," also the dreamy waltz song, "Let Us Be Sweethearts Again," both songs being beautifully illustrated.

BREED THEATER.

"The Majesty of the Law," Superb Life Portrayal.

The feature picture of the Breed theater for today is entitled "The Majesty of the Law," and is one of those thrilling life portrayals of the celebrated Virginia company. It tells of the town drunkard being chosen by the rough element of the town to be the first three days the answer to the now famous "I Wish I Had a Girl" song, entitled "I Wish I Had My Old Girl Back Again," also the dreamy waltz song, "Let Us Be Sweethearts Again," both songs being beautifully illustrated.
Mr. Plouf will be heard in two beautiful illustrated songs at each performance.

Public Park for Norwalk.

Because of the apparent lack of interest in the park for the new concrete drawbridge to take the place of the present Washington street structure, prompted in many cases by the decision of town counsel, Levi Warner, which was to the effect that the town had no right to expend money in the city of Norwalk and that the buildings could not be removed to give place to a public park, a number of prominent citizens of the Norwalks are considering the advisability of calling a special town meeting to appoint a committee to consider the purchase of the handsome Mathews property in West Avenue, corner of Bridgeport, to be used for town purposes. The idea in mind would be to renovate the material residence into town offices and convert the beautiful lawns and gardens which adjoin into a slightly and elegant public park—Norwalk Hour.

NEW SYNAGOGUE

To Be Built in Bridgeport for Congregation B'Nai Israel.

Contracts for the construction of the Park Avenue temple for the Congregation B'Nai Israel, of Bridgeport, have been awarded. The general contract except the heating is awarded to a construction company of New Haven and the contract for the work upon the building. The contract for the steam heating has been awarded to a Bridgeport firm.

The plans for the temple, which will be erected upon the east side of Park Avenue about one half north of Washington Avenue, will be a building in Spanish mission style, rather low in appearance, built of tapestry brick and cement stucco, with blue-stone trimmings and copper cornices. The roof will be of stained shingles. The outside dimensions of the temple are 37 feet 6 inches by 62 feet, with an ell 16 by 14 feet.

The Lesson of It.
Mighty instructive it was to see the dangerous rise of the passions of two races after the result of the fight in Nevada had been declared. It is the worst in human nature came to the surface bent on lawlessness. There could not have been a more startling demonstration of the need for the absolute suppression of prize fighting. It is the work of brutes, and appeals to the brute in humanity. A civilization worthy the name cannot stoop to the extinction of this "sport." Rioting and murder come out of it, and let no place be left for its continuance.
Colored clergymen in Washington prayed for the success of Johnson. How did they feel when the ugly demonstrations against their race followed quick upon the victory they desired? Not in the weight of the fist does the uplift of a race lie. It is to be found in the steady and faithful teaching and practice of right living and good citizenship. The moral is even more important for the white race than for the black brother, and the only appeal worth making must be to the godlike and not to the brute in humanity. This has been the slow teaching of our gradual growth out of animism toward the higher things. Decent white men must stand abashed and ashamed over the murderous demonstrations that have been made—Springfield Republican.

"I told that woman I wuz wit' Peary. She wanted to know wot we had to do on de way to de Pole."
"How'd you answer dat question?"
"I told her we eat Eskimauks. Den she laffed. Wot is Eskimauks, pard?"
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

KEPT FUNDS FOR WOODSMEN.

Conductor as a Walking Bank for Reckless Workers.

"For more than thirty years the most popular woodsmen's bank in Maine was a bank on two legs," says Maj. Holmes Day, author of "King Spruce." "Until he was over seventy years old Uncle Nate Swan was conductor on the Bangor & Piscataquis railroad, running between the city and Moosehead lake. With him rode the woods and driving crews. When they forgot themselves and made a racket on his train he used to cuff them into submission and no man ever raised his hand against Uncle Nate. When the men came out of the woods with their pay most of them realized from bitter experience that the city folks would get all their money away from them in a few days. As soon as they would get aboard the train they would begin to strip ten-dollar bills off their rolls and hand the money to Uncle Nate to 'sink' for them—banking it on call. They never forgot, nor did he; and in all the years there was never a dispute between Conductor Swan and any of his depositors. When they came back delivery full of money and enough money for their fare and their tobacco at the lake outfitting store. They wouldn't have known very well what to do with more."

HE TOOK NO CHANCES ON EGGS.

Man with "Hen Fruit" Refused Admittance to Theater.

A theatrical company that played in repertoire in country villages barred a citizen of a town, not long ago, when he entered the theater with a basket, after having purchased a ticket. Just as he was going in, the cover of the basket unaccountably slipped off, revealing a dozen eggs.
"Hi!" said the ticket taker. "This isn't Easter! Where are you going with them eggs?"
"None of your business! Here's my ticket, all paid for an' reglar!" declared the citizen.
"Well, you don't take any eggs inside while I'm here," said the ticket taker; and then the other saw the reason his burden was suspected and roared with laughter.
He left the eggs in charge of the man at the box office and entered; and he enjoyed every moment of the show. When it was over, the manager returned the eggs to him, and said:
"I was afraid you might put your foot into the basket while you were applauding."—Modern Society.

Indian Girl's Plea.

A woman salesman for a department store recently went to the school for Cherokee Indian girls in Tahlequah to take measurements for their uniforms, and here is what she told about the girls: "Those Indian girls are splendid specimens of womanhood. They are all splendidly formed, blooming with health and overflowing with good spirits. And the eternal feminine asserts itself as strongly among those pretty Indian maidens as among any of the girls in eastern colleges with whom I have been brought in contact. All of them make the same plea. Every girl in that seminary as I took her measure begged: 'Please make my suit a little tighter in the waist than this is and do be sure to have the skirt cut longer, won't you? They all want to feel grown up and to do long skirts.'"

Vigorous Maine Maple.

A rock maple tree standing and still growing in a flourishing state on the farm of A. L. Hardy in West New Vineyard measures 10 feet in diameter at the base. It has a short trunk but heavy spreading branches and was growing on this farm 103 years ago when the late Samuel Nevins, great-grandfather of Mr. Hardy, who was the first settler on the farm, came here in 1806, and was then about four inches in diameter. It stands not far from the dwelling house and has been tapped nearly every year for 75 years. Scarcely a dead limb is to be seen about it.—Kennebec Journal.
